After Ganjifa cards fell out of use in Iran before the twentieth century, India became the last country to produce them. Card game. A card game is any game using playing cards as the primary device with which the game is played, be they traditional or game-specific. Rudolf von Leyden suggested that the Ganjifa cards may have been brought by the first Mughals from their ancestral homeland in Inner Asia. A key reference comes from an early 16th-century biography of Bâbur, the founder of the Mughal dynasty. In his work the Baburnama, Bâbur notes in the year 933H (1527) that he had a pack of Ganjifa cards sent to Shah Hassan. This took place in the month of Ramzan, on the night he left Agra to travel to nearby Fatehpur Sikri (Uttar Pradesh, India).

The psychology of individuals and groups may also, in part, be constructed from "historical and experiential amnesia". (Wilson). "Out of The Mountain of Despair, You Can Pick Up A Stone Of Hope". Martin Luther King Jr. The Loss Of African History and its Consequences. The culture of a people is perhaps best reflected in the language or languages. Also, as described in the foregoing Hub on the Custom, Culture and Traditions of African and the fact that they are the very original cultures and custom of Mapungubwe, is an attempt by this author to draw heavily on what other historians have to say about the fact that it is the case: Mapungubwe is a civilization of the African people of South.
