If English Grammar be truly defined as the art of speaking and writing the English Language with propriety, then assuredly, the practice of elocution should form a component part of the curriculum of every school and college. That such has not been the case until a very recent period, and is even now only partially so, is evidenced by the fact that among all classes of society there is no complaint more general than that of the rarity of good readers.

Description: Dust Jacket is ripped. Pen markings from previous owner to fep. This book is neither a social history nor a manual on etiquette. It is an endeavour to depict certain patterns of behaviour which at different dates and in different places, have been evolved by minorities as representing the culture of their time. The varying types of civility produced during the last two thousand years reflected, not material conditions only, but also what was regarded as most admirable by contemporary thinkers and idealists. Every society invents for itself a type, a model, an exemplar, of what the perfect member of that society ought to be.

A few days after my birth in the year 1833, I was taken to the house of Barbara Petrovna, mother of the writer, Ivan Sergeyevitch Turgenev. As will be seen in my reminiscences of the Turgenev Family, I remained with Barbara Petrovna till the day of her death, which took place on 16th of november, 1850 in Moscow, at Ostozhenka, in the Lochakovsky house opposite the commercial school. There were two of us at her death bed, Nicholas Sergeyevich, her elder son and i.

Stray Studies from England and Italy
Author: John Richard Green
Publisher: Macmillan and co
Edition: Poor
Jacket Condition: Binding: Hardcover
Description: Edge wear to corners of book. Fep has brown staining. Rough cut end pages. ex lib with the usual stamps and markings. There are few stiller things than the stillness of a summers noon such a this, a summers noon in a broken woodland with the deer asleep in the braken, and the twitter of birds silent in the coppice, and hardly a leaf astir in the huge beeches that fling their cool shade over the grass. Afar off a gilded vane flares out above the grey Jacobean Gables of Knoll. the chime of a village clock falls faintly on the ear, but there is no voice or footfall of living thing to break the silence as i turn over leaf after leaf of the book i have brought with me from the bustle of town to this still retreat, a book that is the record of a broken life, broken off, as he who lived it says of another, with a ragged edge. It is a book that carries one far from the woodland stillness around into the din and turmoil of cities.

I was born in the year 1632, in the city of York, of a good family, though not of that country, my father being a foreigner, of Bremen, who settled at Hull. he got a good estate by merchandise, and leaving off his trade, lived afterward at York from whence he had married my mother whose relations were named Robinson, a very good family in that country, and after whom i was called Robinson Kreutznaer but by the usual corruption of words in England, we are now called, nay we call ourselves and write our name Crusoe, and so my companions always called me.

Eyvind Johnson 1914
Author: Mary Sandbach
Publisher: Adam books
Edition: Good
Jacket Condition: Fair
Binding: Hardcover
Description: It happened in 1914 is the first part of the Olaf Tetralogy. A book that can be appreciated on several levels, as a human document, it is a deeply penetrating account of a boys transition from childhood to adolescence, but more particularly, it is the story of a gifted but under privileged youth preparing to break out of the bleak environment of an Arctic province. As such it is a vivid recreation of a process that the Author himself, like so many other proletarian writers throughout Europe, underwent earlier this century, and the hero can be seen as representative of the major social convulsions of our time. £3.50 postage and packing.

John Gielgud wrote letters almost every day of his Adult Life. Here for the first time and not previously available to biographers are some of Gielguds love letters. They show that he was not shy in expressing the intimacies of personal relationships. Gielgud had a reputation for speaking his mind, and this is evident as he writes about his contemporaries. Here is a rich life seen through eighty years of letter writing before the age of E-mail.</td>

Statue of Lord Byron in Athens. Byron was already a very successful poet by then, making lots of money, most of which if he didn’t spend on travel but on women. He had some attempts to settle for a more family-orientated life, as his political career dictated, but this did not go so well. Milbanke left Byron in 1816, after which he freely proceeded with his pleasure-seeking. Such way of life more affected Byron’s reputation to the point he self-exiled from Britain in the spring of 1816, never coming back.
