Description: Bumping to top and bottom of spine. Ex lib with the usual stamps and markings. If English Grammar be truly defined as the art of speaking and writing the English Language with propriety, then assuredly, the practise of elocution should form a component part of the curriculum of every school and college. That such has not been the case until a very recent period. and is even now only partially so, is evidenced by the fact that among all classes of society there is no complaint more general than that of the rarity of good reders.

Good Behaviour
Author: Harold Nicolson
Publisher: Constable & co ltd
Edition: Book Size: 210mm x 140mm
Condition: Fair
Jacket Condition: Poor
Binding: Hardcover
Description: Dust Jacket is ripped. Pen markings from previous owner to fep. This book is neither a social history nor a manual on etiquette. It is an endeavour to depict certain patterns of behaviour which at different dates and in different places, have been evolved by minorities as representing the culture of their time. The varying types of civility produced during the last two thousand years reflected, not material conditions only, but also what was regarded as most admirable by contemporary thinkers and idealists. Every society invents for itself a type, a model, an examplar, of what the perfect member of that society ought to be.

Author: Mme V. Zhitova
Publisher: The Harvill press
Edition: Book Size: 185 x 125mm
Condition: Fair
Jacket Condition: Hardcover
Description: Slight foxing to first fep. ex lib with the usual stamps and markings. A few days after my birth in the year 1833, I was taken to the house of Barbara Petrovna, mother of the writer, Ivan Sergeyevitch Turgenev. By her wish and with the consent of my parents, i was to be educated by her, or rather to be brought up as her adopted daughter. As will be seen in my reminiscences of the Turgenev Family, I remained with Barbara Petrovna till the day of her death, which took place on 16th of november, 1850 in Moscow, at Ostozhenka, in the Lochakovksy house opposite the commercial school. There were two of us at her death bed, Nicholas Sergeyevich, her elder son and i.

Condition: Edge wear to corners of book. Fep has brown staining. Rough cut end pages. ex lib with the usual stamps and markings. There are few stiller things than the stillness of a summers noon such as this, a summers noon in a broken woodland with the deer asleep in the braken, and the twitter of birds silent in the coppice, and hardly a leaf astir in the huge beeches that fling their cool shade over the grass. Afar off a gilded vane flares out above the grey Jacobean Gables of Knoll, the chime of a village clock falls faintly on the ear, but there is no voice or footfall of living thing to break the silence as i turn over leaf after leaf of the book i have brought with me from the bustle of town to this still retreat, a book that is the record of a broken life, broken off, as he who lived it says of another, with a ragged edge. It is a book that carries one far from the woodland stillness around into the din and turmoil of cities.

Volumes:
Condition: It happened in 1914 is the first part of the Olaf Tetralogy. A book that can be appreciated on several levels, as a human document, it is a deeply penetrating account of a boys transition from childhood to adolescence, but more particularly, it is the story of a gifted but under privileged youth preparing to break out of the bleak enviroment of an Arctic province. As such it is a vivid recreation of a process that the Author himself, like so many other proletarian writers throughout Europe, underwent earlier this century, and the hero can be seen as representative of the major social convulsions of our time. £3.50 postage and packing.

Gielguds Letters
Author: Richard Mangan
Publisher: Weidenfeld & Nicolson
Edition: Book Size: 245 x 160mm Pages: 564 Volumes: 1
Condition: Good Jacket Condition: Good Binding: Hardcover
Description: Black Boards with silver lettering to spine. End pages are slightly dirty. Otherwise Book is in good condition. Book has been price clipped. John Gielgud wrote letters almost every day of his Adult Life. Here for the first time and not previously available to biographers are some of Gielguds love letters. They show that he was not shy in expressing the intimacies of personal relationships. Gielgud had a reputation for speaking his mind, and this is evident as he writes about his contemporaries. Here is a rich life seen through eighty years of letter writing before the age of E-mail.

Byron was a staunch friend of the classical world who grieved what seemed to him the desecration of its cultural achievements and traditions. His journey through Greece showed him the dilapidated state of famous ruins, some of which had been turned to more mundane uses in the recent past. He also vilified Lord Elgin of England as the chief despoiler of ancient treasures due to Lord Elgin's procurement of several marble statues from Greece to be displayed in England. Indeed, Byron's accruing poetic power, I shall argue, was intricately bound up in his imaginative grappling with the potential, achievements, and failures of the little corporal.

Whereas the twentieth century regards Napoleon chiefly as a military and political figure, nineteenth-century intellectuals, closer in time, viewed him in a more encompassing philosophical framework. Byron spent his childhood in the small town of Aberdeen in the eastern coast of Scotland. Soon his father died, leaving his wife and child in more than reduced circumstances. Lord Byron was educated at Cambridge. When he was 21 he became a member of the House of Lords. In 1809 he went on a two-year-long voyage to Portugal, Spain, Albania, Greece and Turkey. He returned home in 1811.
